Hello again -

1. You must eliminate the word "untraceable" from your Security Standards definition. It should apply to 'any form of vote tampering', not just that which is untraceable.

2. Red teaming? What does the blue team do, if anything? Would there be a blue team present at any/all "real" attempts at hacking the system(s)? You know, in real life situations, not pretend?

3. Source Code review? You refer to 'risk assessment', but you never say what or where or when this is. What is it?
